Commissioner for Patents

In addition to the reasons for non-compliance under 37 CFR 1.121 in the attached form, the amendment is also considered non-responsive under 37 CFR 1.111, which states, "The reply by the applicant or patent owner must be reduced to a writing which distinctly and specifically points out the supposed errors in the examiner's action and must reply to every ground of objection and rejection in the prior Office action."

Specifically, Applicant fails to respond to the rejection of claim 25 under Albert, what was well known in the art at the time of the invention, and Ashok.

Applicant is given one month, or thirty (30) days, whichever is longer, from the mail date of this notice to file a fully responsive amendment.
